GLOBE, Ariz., June S.—As the sports writers say, it appears to be practically in the bag for Landon. So it seems I was wrong when I brashly said here, a few months back, that 'twas old stuff to try to win the popular affection by inviting folks passing through Kansas to take pot-luck with mother and the girls in the kitchen. We still like our politics served with hokum sauce. Even so, once he's the nominee. I hope the Governor moves into the front parlor. He can always get private detectives to watch the silverware when visiting delegations call.

If I were advising the lads at Cleveland, I'd give up trying to stop Landon and concentrate on trying to stop this party. Roosevelt. He's the one who's going to take quite a lot of stopping.

Anyhow, the main job. for the present, is to adopt a platform calling for those two historic principles which, immemorially have belonged to the republican party for going on six weeks now, restoration of states rights and more flexible tariff concessions, and to nominate for vice president somebody who's anonymous already and, win or lose, won't mind remaining so. And then start off Landon at the head of the ticket on the slogan: "He's either another Coolidge, or, if not, will do 'til one comes."

World Today.

"Let me walk with the graduate this morning to the threshold that he is about to cross, and describe briefly the world as it is today.

"Eighteen years ago a war ended which was to have given us universal peace, but the ink of the Armistice had hardly dried when selfishness began to replace that fear which had held the Allies together in combat. No soldier going over the top ever went to the attack and to his death more heroically than did President Wilson. Cautioned by his doctors that he lacked the strength for further combat, he nevertheless toured America to save his treaty and its included covenant in the interests of world peace. The United States, generally accepted as the creator of the League and its covenant, was the first great power to remain outside its fold. As the years rolled by, it became evident that the world was drifting into three distinct leagues, rather than uniting in one. Today we see that subdivision an accomplished fact. National interests have been the motivating cause for the change.

Youth Declines. Specifically, ther are a number of things we can do which would tend to further minimize misunderstandings. I shall list a few of them succinctly:

"(1) Withdraw our garrison from China. It has outlived treaty obligations, and it serves no useful purpose but it might involve us in serious difficulties with no compensating advantages.

"In arriving at this state of affairs, treaties have again and again become scraps of paper. Germany, rightly or wrongly, withdrew from the League to wrongly, withdrew from the League to be free to violate the treaties which had become unbearable. The German youth of today declines further to bear the burdens imposed by a war in which he had no part and a settlement in which he had no voice. A world weary of war is not willing to fight to hold her to the terms of that old treaty.

ings. I shall list a few of them succinctly:

"(1) Withdraw our garrison from China. It has outlived treaty obligations, and it serves no useful purpose but it might involve us in serious difficulties with no compensating advantages.

"(2) Similarly, withdraw our navy from Chinese waters and keep and train it in home waters.

"(3) Withdraw our military and naval forces from the Philippine Islands without waiting for the plebiscite. The presence of those garrions will only embarrass what must be the final solution of that problem.

Spoils System Must Go.

"Bulk there is one problem which we must solve at home that will have a greater influence in the preservation of peace than all others put together. That is, we must put our house in order at home so that our manpower may ever be on the upgrade. To accomplish this requires sacrifice and force of national character. It includes specifically the eradication of disease and the elimination of the word of the lesser and who crowd our public institutions at the could demonstrate our desire and our ability to solve some of the lesser and who crowd our public institutions. Paralleling such activities, there must be the education of the voter, who should be required by law to vote. By such a process, we can reap the benefits and lessen the baneful effects of our political system. As Mr. Hoover, head of our G-men, said recently:

In final traction of the voter with the solution of the state our desire and our ability to solve some of the lesser included problems. Is the average American sincerely interested in these the shall be required by law to vote. By such a process, we can reap the benefits and lessen the baneful effects of our political system. As Mr. Hoover, head of our G-men, said recently:

In final tractive the readication of the voter with the problem of peace. I would demonstrate our desire and our ability to solve some of the lesser included problems. Is the average American sleep the subtract of the study of the problem of the study of the problem.

Parall

mobiles," which he declared was greater than that of war.

The general's speech follows in part:

"I am very optimistic today that we can guarantee peace for our nationals in the midst of a troubled world—more troubled, more elfish, more disingenuous than at any time in recorded history. But we must face the facts, no matter how unpleasant, and lay our course accordingly. Six months ago, with Italian armies on the march in Ethiopia, Sis Samuel Hoare, of Great Britain, and Premier Laval, of France, proposed a settlement that would give Italy approximately half of Ethiopia, but leave the Ethiopian emperor on his throne. The proposal offended the public sense of justice and was killed by popular indignation.—But, as a result, all Ethiopia is today an Italian province and the emperor is in flight.

"Let me walk with the graduate this morning to the therebold that he is an amount of the provisions of treaties to be tween and among the countries this morning to the threshold that he is an amount of the sent of the provisions of some and among the countries between and among the countries this morning to the threshold that he is a first and common advantage, the contacts the policy of the Rellogs and navial can be provided peace and for the Congressman Ramspeek. of Atlanta, the politician!" I heartily agree with the spoils agreed the politician! I heartily agree with the politician! I heartily agree with the politician! I heartily agree with the spoils agreed the politician! I heartily agree with the spoil and national friends was an instrument of national policy, we are at an instrument of national project, of all anch activities. This government must go and our legislation of the keel of government must go and our legislation of the project of the policy is a large order, but I have reminded you before that the great prize of peace is not going to be captured without sacrifice and without effort.

Pan-American Fleet.

"As yet I have not mentioned a great army and a great navy because I know that we will have a proper military and naval establishment if our manpower is sound, and in my opinion that combined army and navy establishment should not cost the tax-payer half what it costs today. It would be far more effective and less expensive to have universal service—six months or a year with the colors for every American lad. I also look to the day when the Pan-American League will be such a definite thing that nations of South America will build fighting ships of a standard American type, capable of being absorbed in a Pan-American fleet should any nation or combination of nations threaten our Pan-American Monroe Doctrine.

OFFICERS' TESTIMONY DOUBTED, JUDGE SAYS

Humphries Renews Criticism; Son To Be Tried by Recorder Tomorrow.

Charges that jurors are inclined not to believe the testimony of policemen in criminal cases unless corroborated were hurled yesterday by Senior Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, in his attack against the alleged traffic arrest "racket."

The jurist said that untrue testimony given by policemen in cases made against jurors is causing these jurors to disbelieve the officers when thay testify in superior court.

jurors to disbelieve the officers when they testify in superior court.

Judge Humphries' statement followed a conference yesterday morning with Dewey Johnson, city electrician, who told the judge that the three traffic lights at Ponce de Leon and Piedmont, Ponce de Leon and Juniper street, and Piedmont and North avenues, were incorrectly timed.

Johnson Checked Lights.

Johnson said he checked the lights and the amber light stayed on only a second.

A check with a stop watch by young Humphries and two witnesses, Willis Everett, a lawyer, and his son, Major Willis Everett Jr., revealed that the amber lights on the three traffic signals stayed on only one second, while downtown and in other sections the amber remained burning three and four seconds, or long enough to allow a motorist to stop or cross the intersections before the red signal came on. Going 35 miles per hour, the judge said, a motorist would be caught by the red light and unable to atop before running out into the crossing street where the amber burned only one second.

NATURAL advantages of the Electric Range, for example, it's the world's coolest range. That's because all the heat is used for cooking. In surface cooking even the sides of the pan are cool. All the heat goes into the food. Thick insulation on all six sides of the oven keeps the heat IN. There is no flame to send kitchen temperatures to new high levels and rob the air of vital oxygen--causing headaches, colds or worse. In hot, sultry summer it's a shame that any woman should suffer like a slave over an old-fashioned, flametype, steaming stove. With your Electric Range you prepare meals in cool air --- air fit to breathe.

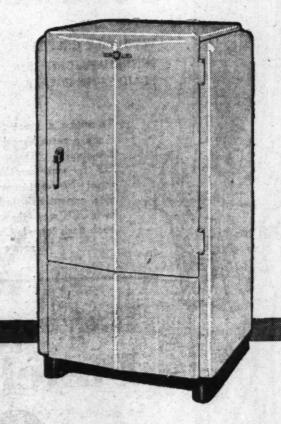

With just ordinary utensils, this modern-range cooks the healthful, "waterless" way. Little or no water is used. Foods are steamed done . . . not boiled, for boiling breaks down food elements, dissolves them, destroys their health value. Foods are cooked electrically as fast as they can be cooked PROPERLY AND HEALTHFULLY.

You don't have to take our word for this. You can prove it for yourself---in your own home. Come to our store, select any Hotpoint or Westinghouse Range. Pay the small down payment. Then, use it 60 days. IF YOU ARE ENTIRELY SATISFIED, you may buy it. Prices begin at $99.50 cash. This trial offer applies also to any Hotpoint or Westinghouse Electric Water Heater.

But are the boys excited! By the time Atlantans are awake Wednesday they will be standing out to sea. And the waves will be slapping against the sides of the destroyer.

And by morning they will be well on the way to New York.

And then five days at sea and the great canal—maneuvers—guns booming—signal flags waving—and orders barked from the bridge.

"Liberty" at Panama.

And there will be, of course, "liberty" at each port. Which means seeing Panama and Old Panama's ruins, left by the pirate Morgan. And it means hearing a foreign language and seeing the ships of other nations.

After a six-mile automobile chase last night in which pursued and pursuing cars were equipped with sirens to warn pedestrians and other motorists out of their paths, other motorists out of their paths, DeKalb county police captured a super-charged automobile which they said was transporting liquor and arrested the alleged driver.

The officers, Hubert Day and C. M. Cloud, reported that the chase was made at speeds beginning at 45 miles an hour and ranging up to 85 miles an hour. The alleged liquor car siren was described as being larger than the standard fire truck sirens.

At DeKalb police headquarters he gave the name of J. B. Bates, 38, of a Sixth street address. He was charged with having and transporting whisky, and bond placed at $600.

The officers reported the car contained 30 pints of assorted whisky.

The new "frontier" appeared with a host of social and economic problems after the financial crash of 1929, but so far America has been slow to tackle the challenge, Roper said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Houston Chamber of Commerce, in connection with the forthcoming Texas centennial celebration.

HAPPY RELIEF

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up.

Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(P)—
The house-approved war profits bill, calculated "to muster money as well as men" in times of conflict was reported to the senate today by its finance committee.

The measure would provide heavy increases in personal and corporate taxation in war time to finance the military establishments through revenues instead of leans.

Another section would impose the following graduated taxes on corporations: 15 per cent on net incomes not in excess of 2 per cent of adjusted declared value, 25 per cent of adjusted declared value and 100 per cent on net incomes in excess of 6 per cent of adjusted declared value and 100 per cent of adjusted declared value value.

He is supposed to have been hidden away in a hotel room here with an economist from Columbia University working on the language of the platform. They both know their business. DUCK Landon's failure to come out flatly on monetary policy is said by his political doctors to have been due to their advice. His whole campaign was conducted on the simple theory of not sticking his head out to be shot at. This was particularly advisable on the money issue because there is a small but strong segment of the republican farm leaders (mostly Borah backers) who want a sliding or stretchable dollar. -Most of the Landon people will tell you sotto voce that they anticipate having no trouble with Borah over the international and monopoly planks mentioned by him, but there probably will be trouble on PALS AGAIN The little misunderstanding between Senator Borah and Senator Vandenberg last week in Washington has been patched up, whether or not they are to be political pals openly The Idahoan lashed his Michigan friend rather severely in the relief debate in the senate, but one who knows says that on Saturday Mr. Borah counseled Mr. Vandenberg on the latter's statement renouncing any vice presidential ambitions.

The two sit only a few feet apart in the senate. They have conferred almost daily for months in Borah's office.

The tempo of the town picked up on convention eve. Listlessness vanished. Delegates meeting delegates everywhere looked like old home week at the county fair.

A Knox manager, when asked about the possibility of Knox taking the vice presidential nomination with Landon, responded: "I can stand defeat but not degradation."

Silk-stocking Ogden Mills, Hoover's chancellor of the exchequer, believes public men should feel the pulse of the "milk man in Omaha." By FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

Third of a series of articles on European conditions by a staff writer who has just returned to the United States as the representative of The Constitution on the maiden voyage of the Queen Mary.

In the two preceding articles in this series there has been presented a discussion of the intense war preparation activity in Great Britain and the concentrated efforts toward the rearming of Germany on a scale that might make possible, by force, if necessary, the creation of a great new Germanic empire in middle Europe, to include Austria, the Polish Corridor and all other areas in which the majority of the residents are Germanspeaking peoples.

It is illustrative of the kaleidoscopic changes constantly taking place in the troubled political scene in Europe that France, whose fear of Germany has made her until recently the leader in the demand that Politer be surrounded to the presents itself to expand Italy's territory, or at least her sphere of influence, in Europe.

FLOOD TOLL MOUNTS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Many Families Homeless; People Tie Homes to Trees.

VANCOUVER. B. C.. June 8.—(P) Officials counted flood damage in terms of $1,900,000 tonight as rivers continued to rise in British Columbia and the Yukon territory.

A river steamer, tied up at the Catholic church, gave refuge to flood sufferers at Mayo, where the Yukon river overflowed the town.

Unusually warm weather started the White river glaciers shedding torrents into the Yukon from tributary streams. In spots along the affected streams, residents sought to save homes and even bridges by tying them to the nearest trees.

Wireless reports said the river steamer was able to navigate four blocks from the Mayo waterfront. Dawson was flooded for five blocks. Many families were homeless.

Far northern British Columbia was hit when the Stikine river poured out of its banks from Telegraph creek to the Yukon boundary, Numerous riverside buildings were swept away, unconfirmed reports said.

Yesterday afternoon the mercury soared to 93 degrees in Atlanta, according to thermometers at the municipal airport weather bureau. Winds constantly temper the heat on the top of the new postoffice building. The mercury had started at 67 degrees yesterday morning.

Heaviest rains Sunday, after Gorenor Talmadge's prayer services, were south of Macon, where no rain was particularly needed. Macon had 76 of an inch: Columbus, none; Monticello, 46; Newnan, 15; Rome, at race: Angusta, 12: Savannah, 40, and Thomasville, 02.

PEGGY ANN LANDON. AIR RESERVE TRAINING

The bill, by Chairman McSwain, democrat, South Carolina, of the house military committee, would have provided for training young men in private air schools under supervision of army air corps officers with the objective of building up an air reserve force to be called upon in time of emergency.

"I am disappointed that the President disapproved the bill," McSwain said. "I felt it was a necessity in promotion of national defense and the cost to the government would have been comparatively small."

President Roosevelt said in his vetomessage that "the War Department has reported that there is no immediate military necessity for such an organization and that its cost would be out of proportion to the results looked for . . . . "And what kind of a president," she was asked, "do you think your father would make?"

"It's hard to think of your father in that capacity," she said. Grandfather Landon was interviewed, too. He said: "I'm very confident that my boy will be nominated and elected."

IMMORTAL DOLLARS!

Dollars that are spent unselfishly; dollars that heal pain, bring comfort in the hour of grief; bind the broken-hearted; provide a mother's care for little children and for growing boys and girls; keep the home fires burning in the mortgage-free home; open wide the doors of knowledge in the great seats of learning throughout the land; and at last in the sunset years of life assure that worry-free contentment so richly earned, but so seldom provided. Such are the manifold rewards which may be the rich heritage of the dependents of that man who knows and understands what his premium dollars of today are buying in those tan-gible and intangible blessings of tomorrow.

I am not an accountant nor an actuary nor banker. But I can clearly understand what the promise of a great Life Company means to my family when it agrees to pay my widow and my orphans, dollars every month, year after year, un-til the youngest is full grown; what that promise means when it agrees to pay a very definite and certain sum at a most uncertain time, that hour when death strikes, without much warning; and what that promise means, when it provides that should nothing happen to me at all, those dollars I am depositing will be waiting for me out yonder in my own old age.

Surely the American institution of Life Insurance, which did as much as any other to cushion the shock of the depression, has a place unequaled in history in the upbuilding and maintaining of our physical, social and spiritual welfare, throughout the nation!

Sixty million people insured for a vast total of One Hundred Billion Dollars! Dollars which will live on and on in the enriched lives of widows and sons and daughters of the rank and file of the people of our great country. Immortal Dollars, indeed!

Platform Arguments.

Raises this background stirred a wh.rlwind of argument over the drafting of a platform a matter which may result in open conflict on the convention floor and conceivably influence the selection of the presidential and vice oresidential nominees that will follow.

Raised anew was a suggestion for a constitutional amendment, while struggle over a farm plank, the party's declaration on the money question, and on the tariff produced nothing that looked like agreement.

Senator Borah came forward with an assertion his "first interest is in the platform." Asserting unless a courageous set of declarations was adepted, there need be no further campaign, he added:

"Platforms I hav seen—especially with respect to foreign relations—

Just as the arrival of Vandenberg described as saying that he was not primarily interested in the platform. Ig Borah really wanted to find out the platform views of the Landon doubt stop and that the convention should stop and think before it named a candidate, so the arrival and attending statements by Borah today aused much talk.

Won't Back Landon.

Some who have followed the Idahon's affairs closely argued that despite his statement that he would not join in a movement to stop Landon, he had no intention whatever of offering any active help to the Kansas governor. At Landon headquarters, it was said that Borah's statement was "not unexpected," but it was known that both there and in other camps his next steps would be followed closely.

Talking to members of his Idaho delegation, all eight of whom are pledged to him, Borah said during the morning:

"Much has been said since my arrival in Cleveland with reference to my joining some combination or some joint movement for the purpose of stopping the candidate who seems to have the largest number of votes at the present time.

"I'd on not feel that I want to go into any combination or move to control word many to the convention. I have nothing to gain.

Then he added his statements about the platform, some of which stirred speculation also. If the convention adopts a platform which does not conform to what he called "the great principles," he asserted he was "not going to leave Cleveland satisfied."

"I shall not bow my head in defeat," he added.

'Ladies of the Press' Are Invited To Meet Emily Boyd Rogers

By Sally Forth.

THE "Ladies of the Press" will assemble Thursday afternoon at Mrs. John K. Ottley's Peachtree road home to pay homage to Emily Boyd Rogers, whose splendid work as publicity chairman for the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls School has directed many sheckels into the treasury. She became a member of the fourth estate as the former Emily Boyd, when she was a member of the staff of the Griffin News, owned and published by the late Joseph D. Boyd,

The Atlanta spotlight turned upon Emily and her charming personality the moment she married Dr. Harry Rogers and established residence here. She was pressed into service to write this and that and to promote the constructive endeavors in which Atlanta women

Invitation was extended Emily to join the Young Matrons' Circle, and she became so interested in the work that she accepted the responsibility to write articles to intrigue the public into patronizing the movements launched by this band of women to make money to help run the school at Tallulah, wherein underprivileged children are being educated. Mrs. Ottley's tea on Thursday will have the popular and likeable Emily as honor guest, and Mrs. Charles Long, of Shelbyville, Ky., will be included in the number invited to meet her. Mrs. Long arrived yesterday to visit Emily at her Huntington road home and will renew friendships made upon frequent visits to Atlanta as Emlly's attractive friend.

TO THE list of "sweet girl graduates," Sally today takes pleasure in adding the name of Miss Sarah Huff, Atlanta's peren-pial young girl, "Miss Sarah," as she is affectionately known, was graduated recently from the Goldsmith High school, and took her place along with the 37 boys and girls receiving their diplomas.

The occasion marked the second consecutive year Miss Sarah has received a diploma from the school, so ably directed by Mrs. Arthur Pew, the principal. Ac-cording to the school authori-ties, she will be listed among the graduates every year for the re-mainder of her life.

Julian Boehm, one of Atlanta's outstanding citizens, shared graduation honors with Miss Sarah for the second time, and they made impressive figures when they sat on the stage in the au-citorium amid organdy-bedecked girls and young boys clad in dark coats and light trousers. Mr. Boehm also wore a dark coat and light trousers. Miss Sarah's contrasting dress was of blue silk and she wore an exquisite or-

To the Goldsmith school goes the distinction of being the only school from which Miss Sarah graduated, for when she was of school age there were no public school here. Miss Sarah is well-schooled, for to her credit are 25 years of self-study at the Young Men's Library, which, at that time, was situated on Decatur street.

A TLANTA friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Pierce, of New York, were happily surprised when they arrived here Saturday for a few days visit. It is Mrs. Pierce's first visit to Atlanta since she married Mr. Pierce four years ago in the metropolis. Henry Pierce has been a frequent visitor to Atlanta during the past 20 years. He has a wide circle of friends here to whom he introduced his attractive wife. Mrs. Pierce is the former Miss Nathalie Kimball Wilson, member of one of New York's most distinguished pio-

Sally Forth was impressed with the visitor's charm and magnetic personality. Particularly intrigung is her decided English accent, although she was born in New York and educated in Paris, where she and her parents lived during her girlhood. Mrs. Pierce's brilliant intellect is reflected in her conversation, which also reveals the fact that she possesses a keen sense of humor.

Attracting comment were the smart clothes worn Pierce at the week-end social gayeties. She displays excellent taste in choosing her gowns, which emphasize her regal type of heauty. At Brookhaven Country Club, where Mr. and Mrs. Pierce dined with friends Sunday evening, the latter wore a smart printed crepe ensemble, with the vogueish Dubonnet shade pre-dominating. Her wide-brimmed straw hat, from under which was revealed that she wears her dark brown hair in bangs style, was of the Dubonnet color.

With hosts of Atlanta friends Sally regrets that the Pierces' visit here is of such short dura-tion. But she hopes that they will make a return visit to Atlanta soon.

THE NEW TWO-WAY THREE BID.

For many years I, as well as a host of other experts, have realized that hands containing "ready-made" with the contribution of the contri that hands containing "ready-made suit (requiring no support in trumps from partner), with and without side strength, should be given special bidding treatment. The question was: What treatment? How to shut out the opponents when your hand was defensively weak and, at the same time, not jeopardize one's own alam opportunities? And here is the solution.

Any opening suit bid of three shall be considered a two-way bid. Thus, two vastly different types of hand should be opened in the same way. For instance, let us consider these

For instance, let us consider these two hands:

Spades, A, 4; hearts, A, K, Q, J, 8, 6; clubs, 10, 8, 5.

Spades, 6; hearts, K, Q; diamonds, K, J, 10, 9, 8, 5, 3, 2; clubs, 8, 3.

Using the new two-way bid each of these hands should be opened with a bid of three diamonds. Obviously, it is vital for partner to determine which type actually is held. And he will be told, but first he must do his part by responding properly, according to his holding. Responses to a two-way three bid are as follows:

1. With any hand containing less than one honor tricks or less than three small or two fair trumps (Jx) with a singleton, the responding hand will pass.

will pass.

2. Holding one honor trick, or with three small or two fair trumps and a singleton, responder must give a single raise.

EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, Sunday .- I spent a most peaceful and quiet day in New York yesterday. Going out for only a few errands in the morning, I marked all my mail, got my bags packed, and called my mother-in-law at Hyde Park to get the latest news of her. She sounded very cheerful and the doctor was going to let her try to stand today.

It is really curious how one can adjust from the life of perpetual activity, with engagements scheduled for practically every minute of the day and evening, to the return of a personal life, with time to think, read and sit about with one's family and friends,

It was grand meeting my daughter and son-in-law, who have been in California for six weeks. #### "What! Furs in June?"

Of course it does seem early to talk reason that we offer them now. Fashion Authorities have agreed that the demand for fine fur coats this winter will be the greatest in years. Already some of them are at a premium.

> And it is only because we had the vision to anticipate this condition and to buy furs early that we are now able to offer them at the lowest price of the season! (Even lower than the August Sale price!) In fact, we guarantee that you will not be able to duplicate these values

A convenient payment plan will be arranged to suit your individual budget. Your coat will be stored without charge until Fall.

Shown is a lovely swagger model with Johnnie collar in Natural Squirrel, which, incidentally will be one of the season's most popular furs . . .

Blackie was in Mary's dressing room at the Paradise. It was garishly decorated with posters of Mary and one of Blackie's election placards. Mary was in the tights of the poster, arranging her makeup, her manner one of grim determination to go through what was ahead of her. Wasn't she with the man she loved, and happy? A rap at the door, and Babe entered.

"Father Mullin's out here, Blackie, wants to see you." His eyes took in Mary's good points. "Looks pretty sharp," he said to Blackie.

"Well, sure . . . any time. Of course, it's got to be after election. The mob knows how I've always kidded that sort of thing. I can't back down now and make a fool out off myself just before election. It'd less me too many votes."

Cartier made a journey from France Canada in less than three weeks. but it was a short Atlantic route. He traveled only about 2,000 miles, while most other ships traveled 3,000 or

"The Flying Cloud."

As a rule the Atlantic sailing time was from five to eight weeks during the centuries North America was being explored and settled. The "Mayflower" took the Pilgrima from England, in two hours' less time.

A round-the-world sailing record was made by the "James Baines." Going by way of Australia, the famous clipper circled the globe in a sailing time of 132 days. There was no Suez canal and no Panama canal at the time, which meant that the journey was thousands of miles longer than it would be today.

a supply of fresh meat and fresh milk for passengers and crew. Then came the famous clipper ships, built for speed. One of them, the "Flying Cloud," set up a record "never broken by a sailing ship." During the California gold rush, it sped from New York southward over the Atlantic, then around Cape Horn and north to San Francisco in 89 days. The man who planned the "Flying Cloud" was Donald McKay, of Boston, the greatest ship-builder of his time. Another boat of his, the "Sovereign of the Seas," ran from New York to Liverpool in 13 days and 23

A British firm bought several of the boats built by McKay, among them the "Lightning" and the "James Baines." There was also one, the "Donald McKay," which the British firm named in honor of the builder. On a certain day the "Lightning" sailed farther than any other sailing ship, before or since. In 24 hours, it traveled 436 miles! The "James Baines" never sailed quite so far in a single day, but just 80 years $50 this month it set an hourly record, making 21 knots (24 land miles) in 60 minutes. That was fast sailing—many stéamers of today cannot get over the water at such speed.

Another record of the "James Baines" was an Atlantic crossing—from Boston Light to Rock Light, Liverpool—in 12 and one-fourth days.

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Multi-Millionaire and Mining Engineer Was 81 Years of Age.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 8.—
(P)—John Hays Hammond Sr., a Californian who started on a shoe-string and became a multi-millionaire mining expert died suddenly of a heart attack at his palatial estate, Lookout Hill, here late today. He was 81.

The man who had been the friend and confidant of presidents, empire builders and just plain miners died in his study while reading.

William Griffin, his secretary, found Hammon's body in a chair. He called a doctor immediately, but the doctor was able only to certify the cause of death.

Hammond had been in ill health for a year, but he arrived at Lookout Hill Saturday from Washington apparently in much better health. He took an active part in superintending Hill Saturday from Washington apparently in much better health. He took an active part in superintending the opening of his estate for the summer season.

Outstanding Exploit.

One of Hammond's outstanding exploits during an adventurous career was participation in a reform movement against the administration of "Oom" Paul Kruger just before the outbreak of the Boer War in the Transvaal republic, Africa.

He and the others were captured by a trap set by Kruger, convicted of high treason by a Boer council and sentenced to hang. He was saved by intervention of the United States Secretary of State Richard Olney who acted at the instance of a Washington newsman.

Death came to Hammond just as an old friend, Mrs. Edward M. House, wife of Colonel House, one-time adviser to former President Woodrow Wilson, called to visit him.

Body Is Found.

The secretary told her that Hammond apparently had gone for an automobile ride as he could not then be found. Mrs. House left and a short time later Griffin saw Hammond's body in the chair.

Miss Breyman will become first soloist of the Hollywood ballet and will be co-producer with Aida Barona, according to Mrs. Lafayette Butler, traveling representative of the troupe. #### INDBERGH RANSOM IS ORDERED RETURNED

$14,700 Is All That Is Left of $50,000 Colonel Paid

TRENTON, N. J., June 8.—(P)—Attorney General David T. Wilents said tonight that $14,700 Lindbergh ransom money had been turned over to Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr., of Hunterdon county, for return to a representative of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in New York.

The attorney general said it was very probable that Prosecutor Hauck delivered the money in New York this week-end. The attorney general said a communication had been received from Colonel Lindbergh, in England, advising the state police and Prosecutor Hauck to return to a New York representative any of his effects used in connection with the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case.

The $14,700 was found in possession of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted of the baby's murder. The rest of the $50,000 ransom the prosecution contended, was used by Hauptmann in stock market and business transactions.

He turned and walked back to the bench.

"That's the kind of ball players I have, honest ball players," he said later, when his breath returned. "I don't know what the game's is coming to when a player will admit an opponent's ball was fair, and not foul. I guess it must be the college influence. Maybe it's best the old-timers are dying out. THE GRAND OLD MAN.

It was a grand sight to watch Alex McColl work yesterday. He went the full nine innings and lost 2 to 1.

Alex McColl is 43 years old. That is just the prime of middle age off the diamond. But it is quite an ancient vintage for the pitching mound where young and supple arms have trouble going nine innings.

But Alex McColl, like our own Jim Lindsey, has lots of stuff above the ears. And he has control. And when the boys give that type pitcher support and a few runs—it's too bad for the opposition. Yesterday Old Alex got no runs.

Browne's Double Paves Way for Victory; Williams Hurls Tonight.

By Jack Troy.

Al Browne slapped a double down the left field line in the seventh inning of yesterday's opener with Chattanooga and thereby started the ball rolling for Bud Thomas' ninth victory of the season, 2 to 1.

The blow int Marris, who was awarded first on the only walk of the game, to third, from where he scored on Paul Richards' fly to right.

It was the margin of victory, since Chattanooga got across its lone tally in the nint: when Harry Taylor, exCracker, tripled and scored on Freddie (Ex-Cracker) Sington's infield out.

Browne's double caused much controversy on the part of the Chattanooga player until Catcher Sammy (Cherry Tree) Holbrook walked up and calmly announced to started Joe (Three Straight) Engel, acting manager, that "the ball was fair."

Thomas gave up six hits and six Coll was good for only five. It was a beautifully pitched ball game on both sides. And the pity of it was that only 1,903 fans were there to see it.

BROWNE DOUBLES.

BROWNE DOUBLES.

Joe Engel, combining the managerial strategy of Connie Mack—he had a score card—and Clark Griffith, plus Engel innovations, was licked when Al Browne walloped his epic double.

The Crackers scored their first run in the third. Buster Chatham led off with a single and Thomas beat out a slow roller between short and third. Then Moore forced Thomas at second, and on the play, Chatham scored from second. It was a nifty piece of base running by the peppery shortstop.

The deciding run came in the seventh when Harris walked, Browne doubled and Harris scored after the catch of Richards' fly to right.

FAST FIELDING.
Fast fielding cut off a Chattanooga run in the eighth. Stahley Brown, rookie third baseman, hit his second triple of the game with two out. The ball bounded to the bank, where Moore retrieved it.

He shot the ball to Chatham, who made a perfect throw to the plate. Richards tagged Brown as he slid home.

Richards tagged Brown as he shahome.

This was a life saver in itself, and a great piece of fielding by all hands.

Brown was pretty tough for Thomas to get out, rapping two triples and a double. Taylor also hit a triple. Taft Wright hit a double, while Sington rapped a single.

Browne's double was the only extrabase hit Atlanta secured off Alex McColl, who was in great form.

Engel, impeccably attired, wearing white linen suit and panama hat, two toned shoes and a siy grin, yearned to charge out on the diamond and take part in the seventh-inning controversy. But you have to wear a uniform to enjoy that privilege. But uniform or not, the honesty of Sammy Holbrook stopped Engel cold. His strategy failed.

And so Engel is planning to don a uniform for tonight's game. He plans to do the coaching at the third base line, where he intends to wave plenty of Lookout runners home.

Al Williams will pitch for the Crackers in the game tonight, which starts at 8:30. Henry Coppola is expected to be Engel's choice.

recently elected as honorary mayor of Smyrns, has resigned his position as manager of the Warren baseball nine and is seeking a connection with a club in organized baseball.

There is no question that Hasty would make some club a real manager. His honesty and fair play are well known. He is conscientious, straightforward, a square-shooter of the old school. Hasty's biggest thrill in baseball came in 1931 at Houston when, as a pitcher for Birmingham, he beat Dizzy Dean, 5 to 3, in the deciding game of the Dixie series at Houston.

If somebody needs a real manager and a capable pitcher, Bob Hasty, who is making his home in Smyraa, is available. 11 wins and 2 losses this season attests.

Another Treasure From Connie Mack, Perhaps | BLANTON HURLS

Connie Mack has sent the Crackers another ball player, Emil Mailho, fleet out-fielder, who hit .353 for Oakland last year. If the Frenchman turns out to be half as valuable as Alex Hooks whom Mack optioned and later sold to Atlanta, the Southern league champions are plenty lucky. Mailho, a left-handed batter who can cover worlds of territory, will lead off for the Crackers. Old Mack likes the Coast league product but preferred to have him play reg-ularly rather than keep him on the bench all year. Connie plans to bring Emil back for another trial next spring. Mailho is slated to join the Crackers today. He left Philadelphia Sunday via auto with his family.

Whether the pitching has shown signs of deteriorating or whether the hitting has improved is all a matter for debate. But there's no questioning the evident fact that so far this season the pitchers have been unable to curb with any degree of effectiveness the stickwork of the heavy hit-

Records of games last week make this evident as a check shows the teams each collecting slightly better than 10 hits per game, which is no great compliment to the curves and fast ones of the boys who do the chunking.

The Memphis Chicks averaged slightly less than 10 hits per game, but showed for the first time this season any signs of coming to life as they compiled the best weekly average with six victories against one loss. Nashville and Chattanooga, with the second best records, five victories and three losses each, did the heaviest hitting, each team collecting 87 hits in eight games. The Vols, however, made their hits good for 47 runs while the Lookouts had eight less.

dipped in early trading and then recovered to end at net gains.

Despite the fact that the Carolinas and eastern Georgia had scattered showers, speculative interests showed no tendency to sell cotton and after a little liquidation at the opening the market firmed up and maintained small net gains the rest of the day.

July closed at 11.57 to 11.58 at New Orleans, October was 3 points higher at 10.82, while both December and January closed at 10.78.

Trade buying in new crop months was the main susutaining factor of dealings and this purchasing more than absorbed the scattered liquidation that appeared.

Some foreign buying was reported in new crop months, although Liverpool cables told of an uncertain market there as traders viewed the French situation with misgivings.

Consensus around the ring was that while the eastern showers over the week-end were beneficial in alleviating the situation there, they failed by far to remove the threat of crop failure. The subsoil moisture along the eastern coastline and extending over into Alabama was reported to be in a bad condition, needing heavy and prolonged showers to bring the crop up to a good stand.

Reports from other sections of the cotton area were as favorable as the Carolinas situation was unfavorable.

 WHAT STOCKS DID.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(P)—The stock market advanced to slow music today, but it covered considerable territory Steels and a wide assortment of in-dustrial specialties marched at the head of the procession. At the con-clusion of the day's trek gains of frac-tions to 2 or more points were in the majority majority.

Brokers attributed the quiet rally partly to a little better outlook in Europe, the settlement of the French general strike, and signs that domestic business was taking a firm stand against recessions which are usual at this time of year.

Buying to beat the boost in finished steel prices, which takes effect July 1, was said to have had some influence in the stepping up of mill activities. It was noted, however, that steel scrap prices were again pointing downward, probably reflecting what was thought to be a slackening of foreign demand.

The failure of volume to expand on the reversal of the trend brought little joy to the commission houses. Transfers totaled 694,050 shares compared with 633,850 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues came back .7 of a point to 61.4. sociated Press average of 60 came back .7 of a point to 61.4.

(Copyright, 1938, by Caited Press.)
NEW YORK, June 8.—(UP)—The stock market, many trading groups believed tonight, is in position for a steady advance provided some incentive can be offered for increased activity.

The list firmed in light turnover today. Price gains ranged to three points at the close and there was satisfaction that the upward tendency extended to every section. Rails and steels led the early advance and other groups joined later. But only 690,000 shares were exchanged, only 60,000 more than the dull Friday session.
The gain came without any particular development, except indications of some relief to the tension in France.
The strike in France appears to be nearing complete solution — which

Friendly Counsel By CAROLINE CHATFIELD. Problems of general interest submit-ted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Tour name held in confidence Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution

Dear Miss Chatfield: I must make a decision and make it soon. In the two years of our marriage my husband has drunk, gambled, fought and embezzled. He has spent all the money my father left me. He has had several good jobs but something always happened and he had to move on to another. Once we had to move because he was behind on the rent. He could have paid it but he preferred to use his money in gambling, saying that he was trying to double it. He has recently gone to another state running from trouble here and I am with my mother, who here and I am with my mother, who isn't able to support me. She has already given me so much that the other children complain. Nothing I say has the slightest effect on my husband. He says he realizes what he has done and someday he will make it up to me. He vows he wouldn't want to live if he lost me and the baby but all he does for us is to make trouble. Sometimes I think I love him and again I hate him. Shall I go to him when he sends for me or nim and again I hate him. Shall I go to him when he sends for me or shall I quit and try to make him support the baby? I have a college education but know nothing about supporting myseif.

BEATEN.

Answer:
What about putting your husband on probation? Wouldn't this be better than divorce? Wouldn't it be better not to snatch away his only inspiration for reform; his wife and baby? Yet there is no reason why you should rejoin him until he shows that he is making the effort to atraighten up and

Any loving wife would hesitate between love and hate for a man who has been so utterly lacking in a sense of responsibility toward her and their child. At the same time, she should feel pity for his weakness. So, divorce is the last thing she should resort to. It will only ease her heartache It won't get her alimony. It will only enable her to swap one set of problems for another. Which is worse: the frying pan or the fire? A wife in love with a worthless husband has just about such a choice.

The MAN OF THE IRON MASK.

Instant death was the penalty the mysterious prisoner must pay should be eter reveal his face—this by royal command of Louis the Grand; he who boasted, "I am the State!"

The only clue to the unfortunate's identity was this entry upon the register of the grim Bastille:

"On Thursday, the 18th of September, 1698, at 3 o'clock of the aftirernoon, M. de Saint-Mars, governor of the chateau of the Bastille, arrived for his first entrance into office, coming from his government of the islands of Sainte-Marguerite, having brought with him in his litter a former prisoner of his at Pigneroi, whom he obliges to keep himself always masked, and whose name is not told."

It had been 17 years since M. de Saint-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile, had lanquished in the dungis of Sainte-Mars had left Pigneroi with his masked prisoner, who, meanwhile,

It left behind no clues as to his identity of his antecedents. Only M. de Saint-Mars and the grand monarch could tell; and their lips were sealed until the Black Angel delivered them out of the tortures which their conscience must have endured on this victim's account.

For a dozen years after the masked prisoner had died not even M. de Saint-Mars' brothers in arms, who had helped guard that wretched existence, dared to ask themselves who their prisoner might have been. Then Louis XIV went up for his final judgment after more than 70 years upon his throne, and men dared to gossip behind closed doors. But the first published attempt to unravel the mystery could be ventured only after that cruel monarch had been molding in his tomb for a generation. This

Cardinal Mazarin died and Louis XIV took the government into his own hands, "a prisoner of, greater than ordinary stature, young and of most handsome and noble form, was sent under strict secrecy to the island of Sainte-Marguerite," Voltaire related. The king's minister, Louvois, went to see the prisoner on the island and see the prisoner on the island and spoke to him, standing, with every sign of respect. According to this author, the prisoner was a half-brother of Louis XIV, the son of that monarch's mother, "Haughty" Anne of Acettic and Marain of Louis XIV, the son of that mon-arch's mother, "Haughty" Anne of Austria, and Mazarin

This disclosure was shortly followed by a pamphlet emphatically stating that this natural son of Anne and Mazarin had been put on the throne by Mazarin in substitution for the real Louis XIV, for whom he had been substituted; that the personage who for more than 70 years enjoyed all the prestige of "The Grand Monarch" was, therefore a pseudo king, and that the prestige of "The Grand Monaren was, therefore a pseudo king, and that the unknown prisoner of the Bastille was the rightful ruler of France. According to a further theory that prisoner was a half-brother of Louis the Grand, but his father was the English Duke of Buckingham, rather than Cardinal Mazarin. Others have maintained that he was the property of dinal Mazarin. Others have maintained that he was a twin brother of the grand monarch and had been put away to avoid complications. This was seized upon by Dumas for the plot of his novel, "The Main in the Iron Mask."

was in the anonymous "Memoirs" of an author supposed to have been an intriguing court belle. According to this authority, the masked man had been the Duc de Vermandois, natural son of Louis XIV by the beautiful Louise de la Valliere. During an outburst of anger he had dared strike the Dauphin and had suffered a lifetime of torture for his attack upon the heir of the throne.

Voltaire Related.

Voltaire, in his "Century of Louis XIV," later presented another key to the mystery, of which he said: "It is without example, and, what is no less strange, all historians have been ignorant of it." Shortly after 1661, when Cardinal Mazarin died and Louis XIV, and the government into his own the commission Marshall was booked solidly through July and in addition was scheduled to meet Ali Baba, recognized as champion in some states, in a "title" match at Columbus, July and the match with "The Strangler" during July. Baba likewise told the commission his engagements wouldn't permit a match with "The Strangler" during July. Lee Wyckoff, of California, then accepted the match with Lewis and Baba was ordered to meet the winner here in August.

Lewis posted a $1,500 guarantee of good faith with the commission some time ago, asking for a match with Baba or Marshall.

Evening School Graduates Urged To Campaign for Better Education.

What he termed the "pitiful condi-ion of lack of education in Georgia" ras described last night by Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of chools, in his address to the 98 graduating students of the University System of Georgia Evening school in exercises held at the Peachtree Christian church. "I urge you graduating students to act as missionaries and go out and spread the doctrine of the need of more education in our state," said Dr. Collins. "Only by a thorough awakening of the state to the need for better education and better facilities for education are we to get the state out of the darkness of ignorance."

Dr. Collins gave as an illustration of the appalling lack of education on the part of many residents of the state the case of a 13-year-old boy who lived in the country and had received only two years of schooling. He cited many other cases where persons had received the benefit of only sixth grade education and lower.

MADRID, June 8 .- (UP) -Authorities tonight frustrated a plot for a nation-wide armed uprising against the government, reliable sources rerealed.

The movement allegedly was directed by the Syndicalist National Confederation of Workers.

Police reportedly discovered printed directions for the uprising, along with 400 complete civil guard uniforms, rifles, revolvers and ammunition in the plant of a Madrid trucking agency.

The manufacturer of the uniforms, a Zaragoza merchant, was arrested. It was said the syndicalists union ordered the uniforms.
